

You will come to the Langhe and Roero region because of its great tradition of noble wines, truffles, famous recipes and unique tastes, but once you are here, a breathtaking landscape which extends over intact and unchanged lands will enrapture you. Thanks to its beauty, this region has been proposed for the UNESCO World Heritage List.

With the Strada Romantica delle Langhe e del Roero we wanted to suggest to you some itineraries to discover this region, and we did it by connecting some of the most fascinating panoramic points. They offer you a special view on the natural landscape and the inhabitants of the Langhe and Roero region, giving you the opportunity to experience the spirit of these places too: a talking tree tells you about literary memories and fascinations, while beautiful information panels relate about stories and secrets of this land. Take the inspiration to discover new geographical and spiritual routes, which will introduce you to monuments and legends, historical characters and folk tales, agricultural produce and craftwork.

The eleven stopping points of the Strada Romantica delle Langhe e del Roero are like the chapters of a novel, where stories and memories tell you about the traditions and history of a land. There is more than one plot to follow: you can lose yourself in places which look different in every season, even if they have not changed for centuries.

You will be surrounded by marvellous landscapes: the steep slopes of the Rocche del Roero are full of mystery and charm, the gentle hills of the Langhe of Barolo and Barbaresco are covered with vineyards which change their colours in every season, and the silent and wild relief of the Higher Langhe is dominated by green luxuriant woods. A secluded castle on a hilltop recalls the feudal past, while the tool sheds (ciabot) in the vineyards bear witness to the local rural life. The doors of small restaurants and wineries will always be open for you: discover the great hospitality of the local people.

The Strada Romantica delle Langhe e del Roero is a route which involves body and soul: experience countless emotions along more than one hundred kilometres of roads and paths which wind through one of the most fascinating landscapes in the world.
